WAR SCARE IN BRITAIN

WILD RUMORS CAUSED A PANIC
THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE COUNTRY.

PEOPLE EXPECTED CONFLICT

THOUGHT RUSSIA HAD BROKEN
FAITH AND THAT WAR WAS INEVITABLE.

London, Nov. 2.—Negotiations between Great Britain and Russia looking to a settlement of the North sea affair are progressing favorably, and there is not the slightest danger of any friction arising between the two governments. The constitution of the international commission under The Hague convention is on the verge of settlement.

In spite of these pacific conditions Great Britain Tuesday experienced a war panic that can only be compared to the panic created on Sunday, Oct. 23, when the news of the sinking of the trawlers in the North sea was received. Not for years have so many alarmist reports and flaming extras flooded London. The most extraordinary feature of this scare, which was serious enough while it lasted, is that there was not one single circumstance to justify it.

The excitement started early in the day when the newspapers announced the departure of the Russian Baltic squadron from Vigo. The public were not in possession of the information that only the officers concerned in the firing on the British trawlers would be detached, and jumped at the conclusion that Russia had broken faith by not detaching the vessels involved in the affair. On top of this came wild reports of tremendous activity at Gibraltar. Hour by hour the news from Gibraltar became more serious, until at last the climax was reached with the announcement that the British fleet had sailed to meet Rojestvensky's squadron.

Unable to Explain Affair.

In huge type the papers made the parallel statements "the Russian fleet has sailed"—"the British fleet has cleared for action." No newspaper and no person seemed able to explain these events. The reassuring information available in the United States that the sailing of the Baltic squadron from Vigo was with the knowledge of and agreeable to the British government was not even hinted at by the papers here.

The news from Gibraltar became more and more alarmist, and finally the foreign office was overrun by reporters, some of whom brought the rumor that Admiral Beresford had already sunk the remnant of Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet. Ambassador Benckendorff at that moment was quietly discussing with Foreign Minister Lansdowne the personnel of the international commission, but it was popularly rumored that he was receiving an ultimatum.

Premier Balfour, Admiral Sir John Fisher, commander-in-chief at Portsmouth; Lord Selborne, first lord of the admiralty, and Prince Louis of Battenburg, director of naval intelligence, were all in conference, and it was openly hinted that they were planning the first stroke of war. As a matter of fact they, like Lord Lansdowne, were engaged in considering names that had been suggested for the international commission. When all London was in this state of mind and while anybody who might be supposed to know anything was constantly being asked "has war been declared?" the foreign office decided to adopt a course most unusual for it, and in order to allay the public excitement, gave out to the press the following statement:

"Before the Russian fleet left Vigo instructions were given to the Russian admiral with the view to preventing injury or inconvenience to neutral shipping during the passage of the Russian fleet to the far East. In compliance with Russia's engagement four Russian officers have been left behind at Vigo. The two governments are now discussing the terms with reference to the international commission which will be entrusted with the proposed inquiry."

Although it contained nothing that had not been published in the United States some hours earlier in press dispatches from St. Petersburg, it served to inform the people here of the exact situation. The general public, however, went to bed last night firm in the conviction that it would wake up to hear that Admiral Rojestvensky was at the bottom of the sea.

Tuesday's furor would be ludicrous except for the striking instance it has afforded of the willingness of the British public to believe that almost any development is possible after the North sea affair, and for the enthusiasm produced by Gibraltar's warlike news. The foreign office is intensely irritated at the construction placed upon what they declare must have been mere fleet and garrison exercises. No orders have been given the huge fleet now concentrated at Gibraltar to make any preparations in connection with the departure of Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron.

Some annoyance was caused in Downing street earlier in the day by the announcement of the sailing of the fleet coming from the British consul at Vigo before the Russian government officially informed the British government that the officers whose testimony is desired had been detached. Ambassador Benckendorff soon made amends for this omission while Ambassador Hardinge confirmed the news from St. Petersburg.

RELIEVED THE TENSION.

News That Baltic Fleet Had Sailed From Vigo.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—The four officers detached from the Baltic squadron to testify regarding the North sea affair are expected to reach St. Petersburg in two days. It is hoped they will be able to throw a clear light upon this mysterious incident.

The news of the departure of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky and his ships from Vigo has considerably relieved the tension here. The great mass of Russians are quite as suspicious of Great Britain's motives as Britons are of Russia's purposes, and there has been considerable apprehension here that Great Britain might use the trawler incident as a pretext for detaining the Baltic squadron. This apprehension is now largely allayed, though fears are expressed in some quarters that there may be further complications before the fleet gets through the Suez canal or around the Cape of Good Hope. The situation, however, is being more dispassionately discussed, and charges against the fishermen are no longer being decried. Due allowance is also made for the exasperation of Great Britain over the seemingly callous action of Admiral Rojestvensky in going his way after firing on the trawlers and in not reporting the incident until he reached Vigo.

The circumstances of the firing as detailed by Russian officers closely resemble the facts reported by the admiral of the fishing fleet. When abreast of the trawlers the Russian squadron was formed in two divisions, the cruisers steaming east and the battleships west, the latter getting among the fishing fleet and opening fire. When nearly clear of the fishing craft, which were heading toward the battleships, some Russian shells flew over the trawlers and struck cruisers, one of which, the Aurora, was hit several times and some of her men were wounded, including a priest, who died. The transport Anatol apparently became tangled among the trawlers, which she mistook for torpedo boats and signalled for aid, thereby leading the officers of the battleships to believe the trawlers were attacking the Anatol. This, coupled with the appearance of two mysterious torpedo boats steaming toward the battleship, resulted in the fatal cannonade.

PREMIER BALFOUR ILL.

Will Be Confined to His House for a Few Days.

London, Nov. 2.—It was announced Tuesday that Premier Balfour is slightly indisposed and will, as a precautionary measure, be confined to the house for a few days. In consequence of this the cabinet meeting Wednesday will be held at his house in Downing street, instead of at the foreign office. The following bulletin was issued last night:

"The premier is suffering from an irritation of a small vein. By his doctor's orders he will remain in his room the next few days."

This is understood to mean that Mr. Balfour is troubled with a varicose vein.

SAW YOUNG SHOOT HIMSELF.

Eye Witness of New York Tragedy Tells His Story.

New York, Nov. 2.—In the defense of "Nan" Patterson, the actress now in the Tombs prison charged with having killed Caesar Young, the wealthy bookmaker, in a hansom cab in West Broadway this city, on June 4, last, Milton W. Hazelton, a prominent business man of Oneonta, Otsego county, N. Y., Tuesday appeared at District Attorney Jerome's office and declared in an affidavit that he saw Young fire the fatal shot. Hazelton said that another man was with him at the time of the shooting. He does not know the identity of this witness, however, as he was a chance acquaintance.

Hazelton said a stranger called his attention to a cab coming toward him in which a man and a woman were evidently arguing and they saw the man shoot himself. Not wishing to be detained as witnesses, the men agreed to say nothing about the affair.

After reading of Nan Patterson's arrest, Hazelton said, he came here and tried to visit her in the Tombs, but was unsuccessful. He then determined to tell his story in court when Miss Patterson was placed on trial.

POPE PIUS IS INDISPOSED.

Physician in Attendance Says He Will Soon Be Better.

Rome, Nov. 2.—Pope Pius, who for two days has been slightly indisposed, was visited Tuesday by Dr. Laponi, who found that his holiness was suffering from an attack of gout and rheumatic pains in the legs, the latter caused by sudden changes in the weather.

Dr. Laponi advised complete rest and the pope reluctantly consented to the cancelling of all audiences that he had fixed for the next two days, and went to bed. Dr. Laponi said the pope would soon be better.

TWO MEN KILLED.

Several Others Seriously Injured by Premature Explosion.

Milton, Ind., Nov. 2.—The premature explosion of a blast which was being prepared at the Elchel limestone quarry Tuesday, resulted in the death of Foreman William Engleman and James Miller, and serious injury to Harvey Heath and Neal Miller. Several others were severely injured by falling stone.

IS STILL IN PROGRESS

JAPANESE ATTACK UPON THE DEFENSES OF PORT ARTHUR CONTINUES.

QUIET ALONG SHAKHE RIVER

OPPOSING ARMIES IN THAT VICINITY CONFINE ACTIVITY TO SKIRMISHES.

Japanese official reports regarding the siege of Port Arthur indicate that the attack begun on Oct. 24 was still in progress on Oct. 29, the statement being made that the fire of the besiegers was increasing in effectiveness.

Nothing of importance has developed on the Shakhe river, where both sides seem to hesitate to assume the offensive, although the Japanese are the more active in the matter of attacks upon Russian positions.

ONLY THE USUAL SKIRMISHES.

No Fighting of Importance Along the Shakhe River.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—The expectation of serious developments at the theater of war has again failed of realization. Tuesday's official dispatches record nothing more serious than the usual skirmishes. The strategists at the war office are generally inclined to believe that the expected great battle may be deferred and possibly may not occur this year, though the Japanese may make a desperate effort to flank Kuropatkin and compel him to surrender Mukden. If General Kuropatkin is convinced that the Japanese are now numerically superior, he may decide to draw off, as it would obviously be unprofitable to risk a general engagement until the vast armies to be placed under his command can reach Manchuria. Whatever happens, however, it is not likely that the Japanese can take Kuropatkin unawares. Repeated reconnaissances beyond the Japanese lines betray the strength and purposes of Field Marshal Oyama's movements. If the Japanese really intend to advance, it is likely they will do so immediately and not await the arrival of the Eighth Russian corps, the first echelon of which is already at Mukden.

JAP OFFICIAL REPORT.

Thousands of Guns Pounding Away at Port Arthur.

Tokio, Nov. 2.—Imperial headquarters has published a series of reports covering the operations against Port Arthur during the months of August, September and October. The chief interest centers in the tremendous attack which was begun Oct. 26 and is still continuing.

Thousands of Japanese guns began battering against the northerly and easterly forts on Oct. 26, the infantry moving forward with desperate rushes where the artillery had prepared the way, while the pioneers and sappers were running mines against the Russian forts.

The reports record a series of desperate encounters at close range and tell a dramatic story.

QUIET ALL ALONG THE LINE.

Opposing Armies in Manchuria Still Inactive.

Hanchepu, Nov. 2.—Everything was quiet Tuesday all along the line. The trenches of the opposing parties are so close that there are many small collisions especially during the night. The Japanese on the night of Oct. 30-31 heavily cannonaded the Russian right and center, but the attack did not develop into the expected advance. The Russians shelled a village opposite their right flank in the morning. An immense volume of smoke was seen following the sound of a heavy explosion and it is supposed that one of the shells exploded a magazine or ammunition train inside of the Japanese lines.

RUSSIANS ARE DRIVEN OUT.

Japs Capture the Last Fortification on Rihlung Mountain.

Chefoo, Nov. 2.—The meager additional details reaching Chefoo concerning the last general assault on Port Arthur, which began in a preliminary way on Oct. 24 and later developed into the third attempt of the Japanese to secure a commanding position, disclose that on the night of Oct. 25 the Japanese, who on Oct. 26 had daringly entrenched themselves on the slope of Rihlung mountain, forced their way further and drove the Russians from their last trench before that fortification. The Russians retreated from their trenches to the other side of the mountain.

RUSSIAN RESERVES RIOTOUS.

Serious Disturbances Created by Men Just Called Out.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—A dispatch from Kioff states that on Oct. 23, during the mobilization of the reserves in the Kaneff district, disorders among the men called out occurred at several places. Liquor shops and houses of Jews were pillaged. At Kaneff troops fired upon rioters and wounded three of them. Similar rioting occurred at the Kaban railroad station.

As to Taffeta Silks!

Have your taffeta silk experiences been disappointing? Many are: that is the reason we asked. But why are they? There are many reasons, but perhaps the chief one is that some manufacturers "load" the silk. This "loading" is a process accomplished when the yarns are dyed. A chemical is added to produce weight instead of putting pure silk into the cloth. After a while this chrystalizes and cuts the silk.

And now as to the remedy: some manufacturers only make honest goods, and it is these that we carry. Dependable qualities that you may rely upon. Neither are they necessarily high priced. We would like to show you:

JUDGE PARKER DELIVERS THREE

ADDRESSES OUTSIDE OF HIS HOME STATE.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 2.—Eventually ineffective but temporarily successful, was the attempt made Tuesday to rout a monster Democratic meeting at the Essex troop armory where Judge Parker was the principal speaker. The great building with a capacity said to be more than two-thirds that of Madison Square Garden in New York, was filled, and at the first mention of the present administration and the name of President Roosevelt hundreds broke forth with terrible cheering and for several minutes it appeared as though the Democrats were in the minority. The scene that followed was one of unimaginable confusion. Hisses and cheers were mingled, words in anger and threats were heard and the police were powerless to control. Finally the Democrats by sheer force of numbers and their greater volume of sound drowned out their adversaries.

The disturbance occurred before Judge Parker reached the hall. The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock. It was under the auspices of the Parker Constitution club of New Jersey, and Richard V. Lindabury, the presiding officer, made a speech on national issues. Mr. Lindabury referred to the alleged usurpation of power by the executive in the Panama republic incident, which appeared to be the signal for the outbreak.

Combat of Hoots and Hisses.

In an instant the representatives of the two parties were locked in a combat of hoots and hisses, handclapping and cheers. Mr. Lindabury was surprised and repeated the reference to Panama, again mentioning the name of Roosevelt, which was cheered louder than ever. By this time the Democrats in the audience were ready to meet the attack, which they did with hisses for the interruption and cheers for the Democratic candidate, which effectually silenced those who had cheered for the Republican party.

When Judge Parker finally reached the platform he was given an ovation equal in intensity to that at Madison Square Garden Monday night. All throughout his speech, which was an arraignment of "Imperialism" and trusts, he was accorded marked attention.

Judge Parker's invasion of New Jersey to make in the present campaign the first speech he has delivered outside of his native state was met with a resounding welcome. This started when the candidate boarded a ferry at Christopher street, New York, and was continued to Newark, and en route to the home of Former Senator James Smith, Jr., where the members of his party were guests at dinner.

After his speech at Newark, Judge Parker returned to Jersey City, where he spoke before two political gatherings. His tour was not over until after midnight, when he reached his hotel in New York. The candidate was given enthusiastic receptions at the New Jersey meetings.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 2.—In a fashionable restaurant here last night Miss Minerva Bolin, an employee, shot and dangerously wounded George Gamble, a negro waiter. Miss Bolin claims that Gamble boasted he had defamed her character. Miss Bolin was arrested.

Andrews Chosen President.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 2.—The National Association of State University Presidents Tuesday elected officers as follows: President, E. Benjamin Andrews, Nebraska; honorary vice presidents, W. L. Prather, Texas, and W. L. Harris; secretary and treasurer, George E. Fellows, Maine. The next place of meeting will probably be Washington.

Missouri Town Almost Destroyed.

Joplin, Mo., Nov. 2.—The business section of Dunweg, Mo., a mining town, five miles west of here, was almost entirely destroyed by fire Tuesday, entailing a loss of $85,000.

WAR SCARE IN BRITAIN

WILD RUMORS CAUSED A PANIC
THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE COUNTRY.

PEOPLE EXPECTED CONFLICT

FAITH AND THAT WAR WAS INEVITABLE.

London, Nov. 2.—Negotiations between Great Britain and Russia looking to a settlement of the North sea affair are progressing favorably, and there is not the slightest danger of any friction arising between the two governments. The constitution of the international commission under The Hague convention is on the verge of settlement.

In spite of these pacific conditions Great Britain Tuesday experienced a war panic that can only be compared to the panic created on Sunday, Oct. 23, when the news of the sinking of the trawlers in the North sea was received. Not for years have so many alarmist reports and flaming extras flooded London. The most extraordinary feature of this scare, which was serious enough while it lasted, is that there was not one single circumstance to justify it.

The excitement started early in the day when the newspapers announced the departure of the Russian Baltic squadron from Vigo. The public were not in possession of the information that only the officers concerned in the firing on the British trawlers would be detached, and jumped at the conclusion that Russia had broken faith by not detaching the vessels involved in the affair. On top of this came wild reports of tremendous activity at Gibraltar. Hour by hour the news from Gibraltar became more serious, until at last the climax was reached with the announcement that the British fleet had sailed to meet Rojestvensky's squadron.

Unable to Explain Affair.

In huge type the papers made the parallel statements "the Russian fleet has sailed"—"the British fleet has cleared for action." No newspaper and no person seemed able to explain these events. The reassuring information available in the United States that the sailing of the Baltic squadron from Vigo was with the knowledge of and agreeable to the British government was not even hinted at by the papers here.

The news from Gibraltar became more and more alarmist, and finally the foreign office was overrun by reporters, some of whom brought the rumor that Admiral Beresford had already sunk the remnant of Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet. Ambassador Benckendorff at that moment was quietly discussing with Foreign Minister Lansdowne the personnel of the international commission, but it was popularly rumored that he was receiving an ultimatum.

Premier Balfour, Admiral Sir John Fisher, commander-in-chief at Portsmouth; Lord Selborne, first lord of the admiralty, and Prince Louis of Battenburg, director of naval intelligence, were all in conference, and it was openly hinted that they were planning the first stroke of war. As a matter of fact they, like Lord Lansdowne, were engaged in considering names that had been suggested for the international commission. When all London was in this state of mind and while anybody who might be supposed to know anything was constantly being asked "has war been declared?" the foreign office decided to adopt a course most unusual for it, and in order to allay the public excitement, gave out to the press the following statement:

"Before the Russian fleet left Vigo instructions were given to the Russian admiral with the view to preventing injury or inconvenience to neutral shipping during the passage of the Russian fleet to the far East. In compliance with Russia's engagement four Russian officers have been left behind at Vigo. The two governments are now discussing the terms with reference to the international commission which will be entrusted with the proposed inquiry."

Although it contained nothing that had not been published in the United States some hours earlier in press dispatches from St. Petersburg, it served to inform the people here of the exact situation. The general public, however, went to bed last night firm in the conviction that it would wake up to hear that Admiral Rojestvensky was at the bottom of the sea.

Tuesday's furor would be ludicrous except for the striking instance it has afforded of the willingness of the British public to believe that almost any development is possible after the North sea affair, and for the enthusiasm produced by Gibraltar's warlike news. The foreign office is intensely irritated at the construction placed upon what they declare must have been mere fleet and garrison exercises. No orders have been given the huge fleet now concentrated at Gibraltar to make any preparations in connection with the departure of Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron.

Some annoyance was caused in Downing street earlier in the day by the announcement of the sailing of the fleet coming from the British consul at Vigo before the Russian government officially informed the British government that the officers whose testimony is desired had been detached. Ambassador Benckendorff soon made amends for this omission while Ambassador Hardinge confirmed the news from St. Petersburg.

RELIEVED THE TENSION.

News That Baltic Fleet Had Sailed From Vigo.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—The four officers detached from the Baltic squadron to testify regarding the North sea affair are expected to reach St. Petersburg in two days. It is hoped they will be able to throw a clear light upon this mysterious incident.

The news of the departure of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky and his ships from Vigo has considerably relieved the tension here. The great mass of Russians are quite as suspicious of Great Britain's motives as Britons are of Russia's purposes, and there has been considerable apprehension here that Great Britain might use the trawler incident as a pretext for detaining the Baltic squadron. This apprehension is now largely allayed, though fears are expressed in some quarters that there may be further complications before the fleet gets through the Suez canal or around the Cape of Good Hope. The situation, however, is being more dispassionately discussed, and charges against the fishermen are no longer being declaimed. Due allowance is also made for the exasperation of Great Britain over the seemingly callous action of Admiral Rojestvensky in going his way after firing on the trawlers and in not reporting the incident until he reached Vigo.

The circumstances of the firing as detailed by Russian officers closely resemble the facts reported by the admiral of the fishing fleet. When abreast of the trawlers the Russian squadron was formed in two divisions, the cruisers steaming east and the battleships west, the latter getting among the fishing fleet and opening fire. When nearly clear of the fishing craft, which were heading toward the battleships, some Russian shells flew over the trawlers and struck cruisers, one of which, the Aurora, was hit several times and some of her men were wounded, including a priest, who died. The transport Anatol apparently became entangled among the trawlers, which she mistook for torpedo boats and signalled for aid, thereby leading the officers of the battleships to believe the trawlers were attacking the Anatol. This, coupled with the appearance of two mysterious torpedo boats steaming toward the battleship, resulted in the fatal cannonade.

London, Nov. 2.—It was announced Tuesday that Premier Balfour is slightly indisposed and will, as a precautionary measure, be confined to the house for a few days. Hazelton said that another man was with him at the time of the shooting. He does not know the identity of this witness, however, as he was a chance acquaintance.

Hazelton said a stranger called his attention to a cab coming toward him in which a man and a woman were evidently arguing and they saw the man shoot himself. Not wishing to be detained as witnesses, the men agreed to say nothing about the affair.

After reading of Nan Patterson's arrest, Hazelton said, he came here and tried to visit her in the Tombs, but was unsuccessful. He then determined to tell his story in court when Miss Patterson was placed on trial.

Serious Disturbances Created by Men Just Called Out.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—A dispatch from Kieff states that on Oct. 23, during the mobilization of the reserves in the Kaneff district, disorders among the men called out occurred at several places. Liquor shops and houses of Jews were pillaged. At Kaneff troops fired upon rioters and wounded three of them. Similar rioting occurred at the Kaban railroad station.

As to Taffeta Silks!

Have your taffeta silk experiences been disappointing? Many are: that is the reason we asked. But why are they? There are many reasons, but perhaps the chief one is that some manufacturers "load" the silk. This "loading" is a process accomplished when the yarns are dyed. A chemical is added to produce weight instead of putting pure silk into the cloth. After a while this chrysalizes and cuts the silk.

And now as to the remedy: some manufacturers only make honest goods, and it is these that we carry. Dependable qualities that you may rely upon. Neither are they necessarily high priced. We would like to show you:

Our 19 inch Taffeta silk which we carry in fifteen shades at 85c.

Our 19 inch Lining taffeta in all the staple shades at 65c.

Our 19 inch black taffeta, a most excellent quality at 75c.

JUDGE PARKER DELIVERS THREE ADDRESSES OUTSIDE OF HIS HOME STATE.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 2.—Eventually ineffective but temporarily successful, was the attempt made Tuesday to rout a monster Democratic meeting at the Essex troop armory where Judge Parker was the principal speaker. The great building with a capacity said to be more than two-thirds that of Madison Square Garden in New York, was filled, and at the first mention of the present administration and the name of President Roosevelt hundreds broke forth with terrible cheering and for several minutes it appeared as though the Democrats were in the minority. The scene that followed was one of unimaginable confusion. Hisses and cheers were mingled, words in anger and threats were heard and the police were powerless to control. Finally the Democrats by sheer force of numbers and their greater volume of sound drowned out their adversaries.

The disturbance occurred before Judge Parker reached the hall. The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock. It was under the auspices of the Parker Constitution club of New Jersey, and Richard V. Lindabury, the presiding officer, made a speech on national issues. Mr. Lindabury referred to the alleged usurpation of power by the executive in the Panama republic incident, which appeared to be the signal for the outbreak.

Combat of Hoots and Hisses.

In an instant the representatives of the two parties were locked in a combat of hoots and hisses, handclapping and cheers. Mr. Lindabury was surprised and repeated the reference to Panama, again mentioning the name of Roosevelt, which was cheered louder than ever. By this time the Democrats in the audience were ready to meet the attack, which they did with hisses for the interruption and cheers for the Democratic candidate, which effectually silenced those who had cheered for the Republican party.

When Judge Parker finally reached the platform he was given an ovation equal in intensity to that at Madison Square Garden Monday night. All throughout his speech, which was an arraignment of "imperialism" and trusts, he was accorded marked attention.

Judge Parker's invasion of New Jersey to make in the present campaign the first speech he has delivered outside of his native state was met with a resounding welcome. This started when the candidate boarded a ferry at Christopher street, New York, and was continued to Newark, and en route to the home of Former Senator James Smith, Jr., where the members of his party were guests at dinner.

After his speech at Newark, Judge Parker returned to Jersey City, where he spoke before two political gatherings. His tour was not over until after midnight, when he reached his hotel in New York. The candidate was given enthusiastic receptions at the New Jersey meetings.

WAR SCARE IN BRITAIN

WILD RUMORS CAUSED A PANIC
THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE COUNTRY.

PEOPLE EXPECTED CONFLICT

THOUGHT RUSSIA HAD BROKEN
FAITH AND THAT WAR WAS INEVITABLE.

London, Nov. 2.—Negotiations between Great Britain and Russia looking to a settlement of the North sea affair are progressing favorably, and there is not the slightest danger of any friction arising between the two governments. The constitution of the international commission under The Hague convention is on the verge of settlement.

In spite of these pacific conditions Great Britain Tuesday experienced a war scare which can only be compared to the panic created on Sunday, Oct. 23, when the news of the sinking of the trawlers in the North sea was received. Not for years have so many alarmist reports and flaming extras flooded London. The most extraordinary feature of this scare, which was serious enough while it lasted, is that there was not one single circumstance to justify it.

The excitement started early in the day when the newspapers announced the departure of the Russian Baltic squadron from Vigo. The public were not in possession of the information that only the officers concerned in the firing on the British trawlers would be detached, and jumped at the conclusion that Russia had broken faith by not detaining the vessels involved in the affair. On top of this came wild reports of tremendous activity at Gibraltar. Hour by hour the news from Gibraltar became more serious, until at last the climax was reached with the announcement that the British fleet had sailed to meet Rojstevsky's squadron.

Unable to Explain Affair.

In huge type the papers made the parallel statements "the Russian fleet has sailed"—"the British fleet has cleared for action." No newspaper and no person seemed able to explain these events. The reassuring information available in the United States that the sailing of the Baltic squadron from Vigo was with the knowledge of and agreeable to the British government was not even hinted at by the papers here.

The news from Gibraltar became more and more alarmist, and finally the foreign office was overrun by reporters, some of whom brought the rumor that Admiral Beresford had already sunk the remnant of Admiral Rojstevsky's fleet. Ambassador Benckendorff at that moment was quietly discussing with Foreign Minister Lansdowne the personnel of the international commission, but it was popularly rumored that he was receiving an ultimatum.

Premier Balfour, Admiral Sir John Fisher, commander-in-chief at Portsmouth; Lord Selborne, first lord of the admiralty, and Prince Louis of Battenberg, director of naval intelligence, were all in conference, and it was openly hinted that they were planning the first stroke of war. As a matter of fact they, like Lord Lansdowne, were engaged in considering names that had been suggested for the international commission. When all London was in this state of mind and while anybody who might be supposed to know anything was constantly being asked "has war been declared?" the foreign office decided to adopt a course most unusual for it, and in order to allay the public excitement, gave out to the press the following statement:

"Before the Russian fleet left Vigo instructions were given to the Russian admiral with the view to preventing injury or inconvenience to neutral shipping during the passage of the Russian fleet to the far East. In compliance with Russia's engagement four Russian officers have been left behind at Vigo. The two governments are now discussing the terms with reference to the international commission which will be entrusted with the proposed inquiry."

Although it contained nothing that had not been published in the United States some hours earlier in press dispatches from St. Petersburg, it served to inform the people here of the exact situation. The general public, however, went to bed last night firm in the conviction that it would wake up to hear that Admiral Rojstevsky was at the bottom of the sea.

Tuesday's furor would be ludicrous except for the striking instance it has afforded of the willingness of the British public to believe that almost any development is possible after the North sea affair, and for the enthusiasm produced by Gibraltar's warlike news. The foreign office is intensely irritated at the construction placed upon what they declare must have been mere fleet and garrison exercises. No orders have been given the huge fleet now concentrated at Gibraltar to make any preparations in connection with the departure of Admiral Rojstevsky's squadron.

tached. Ambassador Benckendorff soon made amends for this omission while Ambassador Hardinge confirmed the news from St. Petersburg.

RELIEVED THE TENSION.

News That Baltic Fleet Had Sailed From Vigo.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—The four officers detached from the Baltic squadron to testify regarding the North sea affair are expected to reach St. Petersburg in two days. It is hoped they will be able to throw a clear light upon this mysterious incident.

The news of the departure of Vice Admiral Rojstevsky and his ships from Vigo has considerably relieved the tension here. The great mass of Russians are quite as suspicious of Great Britain's motives as Britons are of Russia's purposes, and there has been considerable apprehension here that Great Britain might use the trawler incident as a pretext for detaining the Baltic squadron. This apprehension is now largely allayed, though fears are expressed in some quarters that there may be further complications before the fleet gets through the Suez canal or around the Cape of Good Hope. The situation, however, is being more dispassionately discussed, and charges against the fishermen are no longer being declaimed. Due allowance is also made for the exasperation of Great Britain over the seemingly callous action of Admiral Rojstevsky in going his way after firing on the trawlers and in not reporting the incident until he reached Vigo.

The circumstances of the firing as detailed by Russian officers closely resemble the facts reported by the admiral of the fishing fleet. When abreast of the trawlers the Russian squadron was formed in two divisions, the cruisers steaming east and the battleships west, the latter getting among the fishing fleet and opening fire. When nearly clear of the fishing craft, which were heading toward the battleships, some Russian shells flew over the trawlers and struck cruisers, one of which, the Aurora, was hit several times and some of her men were wounded, including a priest, who died. The transport Anatol apparently became tangled among the trawlers, which she mistook for torpedo boats and signalled for aid, thereby leading the officers of the battleships to believe the trawlers were attacking the Anatol. This, coupled with the appearance of two mysterious torpedo boats steaming toward the battleship, resulted in the fatal cannonade.

PREMIER BALFOUR ILL.

Will Be Confined to His House for a Few Days.

London, Nov. 2.—It was announced Tuesday that Premier Balfour is slightly indisposed and will, as a precautionary measure, be confined to the house for a few days. In consequence of this the cabinet meeting Wednesday will be held at his house in Downing street, instead of at the foreign office. The following bulletin was issued last night:

"The premier is suffering from an irritation of a small vein. By his doctor's orders he will remain in his room the next few days."

This is understood to mean that Mr. Balfour is troubled with a varicose vein.

SAW YOUNG SHOOT HIMSELF.

Eye Witness of New York Tragedy Tells His Story.

New York, Nov. 2.—In the defense of "Nan" Patterson, the actress now in the Tombs prison charged with having killed Caesar Young, the wealthy bookmaker, in aansom cab in West Broadway this city, on June 4, last, Milton W. Hazelton, a prominent business man of Oneonta, Otsego county, N. Y., Tuesday appeared at District Attorney Jerome's office and declared in an affidavit that he saw Young fire the fatal shot. Hazelton said that another man was with him at the time of the shooting. He does not know the identity of this witness, however, as he was a chance acquaintance.

Hazelton said a stranger called his attention to a cab coming toward him in which a man and a woman were evidently arguing and they saw the man shoot himself. Not wishing to be detained as witnesses, the men agreed to say nothing about the affair. After reading of Nan Patterson's arrest, Hazelton said, he came here and tried to visit her in the Tombs, but was unsuccessful. He then determined to tell his story in court when Miss Patterson was placed on trial.

POPE PIUS IS INDISPOSED.

Physician in Attendance Says He Will Soon Be Better.

Rome, Nov. 2.—Pope Pius, who for two days has been slightly indisposed, was visited Tuesday by Dr. Laponi, who found that his holiness was suffering from an attack of gout and rheumatic pains in the legs, the latter caused by sudden changes in the weather.

Dr. Laponi advised complete rest and the pope reluctantly consented to the cancelling of all audiences that he had fixed for the next two days, and went to bed. Dr. Laponi said the pope would soon be better.

TWO MEN KILLED.

Several Others Seriously Injured by Premature Explosion.

Milton, Ind., Nov. 2.—The premature explosion of a blast which was being prepared at the Elchell limestone quarry Tuesday, resulted in the death of Foreman William Engleman and James Miller, and serious injury to Harvey Heath and Neal Miller. Several others were severely injured by falling stone.

IS STILL IN PROGRESS

JAPANESE ATTACK UPON THE DEFENSES OF PORT ARTHUR CONTINUES.

QUIET ALONG SHAKHE RIVER

OPPOSING ARMIES IN THAT VICINITY CONFINE ACTIVITY TO SKIRMISHES.

Japanese official reports regarding the siege of Port Arthur indicate that the attack begun on Oct. 24 was still in progress on Oct. 29, the statement being made that the fire of the besiegers was increasing in effectiveness.

Nothing of importance has developed on the Shakhe river, where both sides seem to hesitate to assume the offensive, although the Japanese are the more active in the matter of attacks upon Russian positions.

ONLY THE USUAL SKIRMISHES.

No Fighting of Importance Along the Shakhe River.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—The expectation of serious developments at the theater of war has again failed of realization. Tuesday's official dispatches record nothing more serious than the usual skirmishes. The strategists at the war office are generally inclined to believe that the expected great battle may be deferred and possibly may not occur this year, though the Japanese may make a desperate effort to flank Kuropatkin and compel him to surrender Mukden. If General Kuropatkin is convinced that the Japanese are now numerically superior, he may decide to draw off, as it would obviously be unprofitable to risk a general engagement until the vast armies to be placed under his command can reach Manchuria. Whatever happens, however, it is not likely that the Japanese can take Kuropatkin unawares. Repeated reconnaissances beyond the Japanese lines betray the strength and purposes of Field Marshal Oyama's movements. If the Japanese really intend to advance, it is likely they will do so immediately and not await the arrival of the Eighth Russian corps, the first echelon of which is already at Mukden.

JAP OFFICIAL REPORT.

Thousands of Guns Pounding Away at Port Arthur.

Tokio, Nov. 2.—Imperial headquarters has published a series of reports covering the operations against Port Arthur during the months of August, September and October. The chief interest centers in the tremendous attack which was begun Oct. 26 and is still continuing.

Thousands of Japanese guns began battering against the northerly and easterly forts on Oct. 26, the infantry moving forward with desperate rushes where the artillery had prepared the way, while the pioneers and sappers were running mines against the Russian forts.

The reports record a series of desperate encounters at close range and tell a dramatic story.

QUIET ALL ALONG THE LINE.

Opposing Armies in Manchuria Still Inactive.

Hanchepu, Nov. 2.—Everything was quiet Tuesday all along the line. The trenches of the opposing parties are so close that there are many small collisions especially during the night. The Japanese on the night of Oct. 30-31 heavily cannonaded the Russian right and center, but the attack did not develop into the expected advance. The Russians shelled a village opposite their right flank in the morning. An immense volume of smoke was seen following the sound of a heavy explosion and it is supposed that one of the shells exploded a magazine or ammunition train inside of the Japanese lines.

RUSSIANS ARE DRIVEN OUT.

Japs Capture the Last Fortification on Rihlung Mountain.

Chefoo, Nov. 2.—The meager additional details reaching Chefoo concerning the last general assault on Port Arthur, which began in a preliminary way on Oct. 24 and later developed into the third attempt of the Japanese to secure a commanding position, disclose that on the night of Oct. 25 the Japanese, who on Oct. 26 had daringly entrenched themselves on the slope of Rihlung mountain, forced their way further and drove the Russians from their last trench before that fortification. The Russians retreated from their trenches to the other side of the mountain.

SENATOR CLAPP'S ELOQUENT ADDRESS

Largest Audience of the Campaign Attended the Meeting Last Night

A TRIBUTE TO HON. R. C. DUNN

The Senator Pays a Glowing Tribute to the Worth of John T. Frater.

United States Senator Moses E. Clapp addressed an audience of nearly 1000 people last night at the Brainerd opera house and it is generally conceded by democrats as well as republicans that it was the most enthusiastic political gathering that has been held in Brainerd during this campaign.

Mr. Clapp is generally known as an orator of great ability and the opera house was consequently packed to overflowing by those who had come to hear an eloquent exposition of the questions at issue in this campaign. That all were satisfied goes without saying, for seldom ever has a Brainerd audience been given such a treat from an oratorical standpoint and such a clear concise statement of the subject in hand. Time and time again the speaker was interrupted in his speech by his enthusiastic hearers in their applause, and there was not a dull moment during the entire two hours Mr. Clapp spoke.

The senator waxed warm with eloquence as he eulogized Robert C. Dunn, candidate for governor and the thought expressed that in voting for Mr. Dunn and the other members of the republican state ticket the state of Minnesota would hold up the arm of Theodore Roosevelt and his policy was well put and the impression made was far reaching and surely brought many men who were just tottering a bit to their senses. There was a large number of prominent republicans on the stage and Mayor A. J. Halsted was the chairman who introduced the speakers.

WORD FROM HON. JOHN T. FRATER.

Mayor Halsted introduced as the first speaker Hon. J. T. Frater and he was received with rounds of applause. Mr. Frater spoke briefly and in part said:

He said that the death of Senator Ferris created a vacancy in the office of state senator and it left a wide gap. At the time no one could image that the life of a man in his prime would be cut off so soon. It was after the death of Mr. Ferris that Mr. Frater decided to become a candidate for the senate and it was at the earnest solicitation of his many friends.

Mr. Frater stated that his experience in the office of county treasurer could not but help prove valuable to him, and one of the first things that he would be in favor of and work for, if elected, would be a graduated penalty for the nonpayment of taxes. Instead of adding the entire penalty on the first of June, add one per cent then, two per cent the first of July and so on. This would make it an object for all to pay as early as possible.

Another question touched upon was the drainage of swamp lands. He would work for this law and under no circumstances would he vote to repeal the same.

The bridging of streams in this district is another important matter which he pledged himself to lend his hearty support. The large number of streams in the district makes it important that as much work be done in this line and Mr. Frater state he would be in favor of getting as much money as possible for this purpose out of the state improvement fund.

Upon party measures Mr. Frater expressed himself very candidly and forcibly. He stated that he had always been a consistent republican and he never tried to conceal his politics, but has always tried to be open and fair with everyone, and while doing so has treated the opposition with the utmost courtesy, appreciating the fact that every man is entitled to his own opinion. If elected Mr. Frater promised that he would represent all the people and not a part of them.

PAID TRIBUTE TO MR. FRATER.

In his opening remarks Senator Clapp paid Hon. John T. Frater a very flattering compliment. He said that he was in Brainerd about a year ago but on a mission that was not altogether a pleasant one; he had come to pay homage to the memory of one of Brainerd's most prominent fellow citizens, the late Hon. A. F. Ferris.

Mr. Ferris, he said, had won a place in the hearts of the people of the city and his attainments along lines of legislative affairs in the state had made for him a name among men and he was considered one of the leading members of the legislative body. Naturally men of affairs commenced to cast about to determine who might be the successor to

Mr. Ferris in the state senate. It was generally conceded that it would take a man of more than ordinary ability to fill the important place made vacant by the death of Senator Ferris. After some thought the conclusion arrived at was that there would be no man in the district better fitted to take up the work so well commenced by Senator Ferris than Mr. Frater and when the news was sent out that the republican party had chosen him as its standard bearer there was much rejoicing.

Senator Clapp stated that in discussing the issues of the campaign he would speak of democratic leadership generally and not individually.

"From one end of this great land to the other the condition is one of peace and prosperity. Coupled with this there is a deep seated conviction that, so far as political conditions are concerned, there will be no change this year. Before discussing national issues I am going to talk upon local conditions.

"It is generally conceded that Minnesota will give a majority of from 75,000 to 100,000 for Roosevelt and I do not believe that these figures are overestimated. Strange as it may appear, in the face of these almost overwhelming figures, the democratic party seems to see a ray of hope in what they seem to consider is dissension within the party regarding the governorship.

"It has always been a theory of mine that a United States senator or congressman would do well if they attended faithfully to the duties of their own office and let the people in the state attend to their own affairs, but this year there was an additional reason why it was necessary that some man that was impartial should try to bring peace to the factions that had sprung up as a result of the contest for the governorship. I was absolutely impartial and had no interest in the nomination of either man, but was only actuated by a desire to bring about harmony in a fight that threatened to disrupt our party in this state.

CLAPP'S TRIBUTE TO DUNN.

"Twenty-five years ago Robert C. Dunn entered the quiet village of Princeton. He was alone and on his young shoulders devolved the work of fighting single handed the battle of life that all must undertake. He started a newspaper. Finally it occurred to the people of that district that it would be a good idea to send that man who had worked so valiantly in his humble interests to the state legislature. In this way "Bob" Dunn took what may be considered his first step in political life.

"One of the first things Mr. Dunn did when in the legislature was to frame and father a law that would insure a fair disposition of the school funds. He saw the grave injustice that was being done to certain sections by the system of apportionment then in existence, and determined at any cost to remedy it. This work he accomplished so well that the people next elected him state auditor. While in that office Mr. Dunn discovered the use to which a great portion of our school funds were adapted and determined that improvement could be made here also. At that time the school funds of Minnesota were being diverted to a great extent, to purchase bonds of other states and Mr. Dunn decided that, instead of taking chances with the money, by tying it up in bonds of other states that were liable to repudiate, he could serve the people better by loaning it out to districts within Minnesota, thereby securing absolute security. The effect of this action has met with the approval of all.

"But the work of supreme importance that "Bob" Dunn has accomplished is his efforts as state auditor in behalf of the drainage and reclamation of state lands. He saw the good that could be done for the state by improving its waste territory and became and has always continued, one of the most able exponents of an adequate system of drainage in this state.

"Another act of paramount importance that Mr. Dunn has added in accomplishing is the placing of the charitable and penal institutions of the state under one board, thereby reducing the expense and by centralizing the government make it much more effective.

"His disposition of the problem of land grants is also remembered with approval by every citizen who has the state's interest at heart.

"While in the auditor's office Mr. Dunn studied the needs of the state and worked faithfully and well to care for and promote its interest. So well did he succeed that time and again his administration of the office has been regarded with pride and pointed out as an example why the republican party should be continued in control of state affairs.

"Time wore on and Dunn sought the nomination as state executive and was successful. Strange as it may seem, no sooner had he gained that honor than a large number of people, who had formerly been loudest in his praise, as auditor, began to wage a most bitter and relentless warfare against him. Most of their complaint is based on the erroneous idea that he did not have the majority in the state convention but only succeeded in securing the nomination by unseating a delegation that was unfavorable to him and placing his own representatives in instead. To those who are acquainted with the true state of affairs in that convention no more unjust or more dishonest charge has ever been brought against any man. I know and men who attended that convention know that Dunn's right to the nomination is held by the act of absolute majority, without stain and without question.

DUNN'S HONESTY LAUDED.

"The best evidence of the honest purposes and intentions of "Bob" Dunn is found in his administration of the auditor's office.

"Another thing that his enemies are maliciously circulating against him are references to his character. We all know that "Bob" Dunn is no orator or no Chesterfield but he is a man. There is nothing in his past of which he need be ashamed. Do you believe it possible for a man to live twenty-five years in a small town without his neighbors knowing something of his character? If you want to know how those who know him best regard him go to the little town of Princeton and there you will find that all unite in declaring "Bob" Dunn an honest upright citizen. There must be something to the man who wins such approbation.

IS PARTY OF PROGRESS.

"The republican party has been one of achievement and progress. If you take the platform recently adopted at Chicago you will find written therein the record of fifty years of advancement. Then take the democratic platform and you cannot find in it one recital of a great policy that has been woven into the life of the party. The reason for this is because that party has not one issue that the American people have accepted.

"The trouble with the democratic party and its leadership is that never since the war have they been able to grasp the grand conception of growth and development. At every step in progress made by the republican party the democrats raise the cry of unconstitutionality.

"To demonstrate the utter inefficiency of the democratic party, take the case of the Panama canal. For fifty years the American people have looked forward to the completion of this great waterway that means so much to our prosperity and development, yet when the question was presented at the last session of congress the democrats promptly entered objections. The democratic leader threw himself in front of the canal bill and was promptly run over. A similar policy was followed when the naval bill was up for consideration and again the democrats were defeated.

TOUCHES ON TRUSTS.

"The democratic party claims that we are not doing anything with the trust problem, which offers such a grave menace to the future of this country, but when they were in power what did they accomplish? In the closing days of Cleveland's administration a committee was appointed to investigate the trust question and reported that they could not solve the problem or offer any suggestion as to its future guidance.

"The Harrison administration came but the American people were too busy seeking legislation that would help revive our languishing industries to worry about the trusts but when the time was ripe, under a republican executive, three bills were prepared and passed, aimed to effectively deal with and curb the trust evil. These acts, in effect, allow the government power to investigate, expedite trial of trust cases and provide equality in transportation of rates. If the rate law had been passed forty years ago there would not have been a Standard Oil trust.

"All through the Bryan campaigns Parker remained silent. In the last great fight of the democratic party, when the free silver plank was first placed, the split regarding the gold standard plank occurred and Bryan single handedly won out against the great hosts of democracy.

"Parker remained silent, but when news of his nomination came he flashed a telegram declaring for the gold standard. I prophesied, the morning that his action was announced, that that message would mean Parker's political death. Free silver is dead but there are more dead things piled up in the democratic back yard than anywhere else on earth.

"As we stand today, facing the unknown problems of tomorrow, what shall be said of the democratic party with such a record of failure and misgovernment? Shall we accept it with its weakness, failure and misgovernment or shall we turn to the republican party, with whom the issues of tomorrow are the living vital questions?

SENATOR CLAPP'S ELOQUENT ADDRESS

Largest Audience of the Campaign Attended the Meeting Last Night

A TRIBUTE TO HON. R. C. DUNN

The Senator Pays a Glowing Tribute to the Worth of John T. Frater.

United States Senator Moses E. Clapp addressed an audience of nearly 1000 people last night at the Brainerd opera house and it is generally conceded by democrats as well as republicans that it was the most enthusiastic political gathering that has been held in Brainerd during this campaign.

Mr. Clapp is generally known as an orator of great ability and the opera house was consequently packed to overflowing by those who had come to hear an eloquent exposition of the questions at issue in this campaign. That all were satisfied goes without saying, for seldom ever has a Brainerd audience been given such a treat from an oratorical standpoint and such a clear concise statement of the subject in hand. Time and time again the speaker was interrupted in his speech by his enthusiastic hearers in their applause, and there was not a dull moment during the entire two hours Mr. Clapp spoke.

The senator waxed warm with eloquence as he eulogized Robert C. Dunn, candidate for governor and the thought expressed that in voting for Mr. Dunn and the other members of the republican state ticket the state of Minnesota would hold up the arm of Theodore Roosevelt and his policy was well put and the impression made was far reaching and surely brought many men who were just tottering a bit to their senses. The was a large number of prominent republicans on the stage and Mayor A. J. Halsted was the chairman who introduced the speakers.

WORD FROM HON. JOHN T. FRATER.

Mayor Halsted introduced as the first speaker Hon. J. T. Frater and he was received with rounds of applause. Mr. Frater spoke briefly and in part said:

He said that the death of Senator Ferris created a vacancy in the office of state senator and it left a wide gap. At the time no one could image that the life of man in his prime would be cut off so soon. It was after the death of Mr. Ferris that Mr. Frater decided to become a candidate for the senate and it was at the earnest solicitation of his many friends.

Mr. Frater stated that his experience in the office of county treasurer could not but help prove valuable to him, and one of the first things that he would be in favor of and work for, if elected, would be a graduated penalty for the nonpayment of taxes. Instead of adding the entire penalty on the first of June, add one per cent then, two per cent the first of July and so on. This would make it an object for all to pay as early as possible.

Another question touched upon was the drainage of swamp lands. He would work for this law and under no circumstances would he vote to repeal the same.

The bridging of streams in this district is another important matter which he pledged himself to lend his hearty support. The large number of streams in the district makes it important that as much work be done in this line and Mr. Frater state he would be in favor of getting as much money as possible for this purpose out of the state improvement fund.

Upon party measures Mr. Frater expressed himself very candidly and forcibly. He stated that he had always been a consistent republican and he never tried to conceal his politics, but has always tried to be open and fair with everyone, and while doing so has treated the opposition with the utmost courtesy, appreciating the fact that every man is entitled to his own opinion. If elected Mr. Frater promised that he would represent all the people and not a part of them.

PAID TRIBUTE TO MR. FRATER.

In his opening remarks Senator Clapp paid Hon. John T. Frater a very flattering compliment. He said that he was in Brainerd about a year ago but on a mission that was not altogether a pleasant one; he had come to pay homage to the memory of one of Brainerd's most prominent fellow citizens, the late Hon. A. F. Ferris.

Mr. Ferris, he said, had won a place in the hearts of the people of the city and his attainments along lines of legislative affairs in the state had made for him a name among men and he was considered one of the leading members of the legislative body. Naturally men of affairs commenced to cast about to determine who might be the successor to

Mr. Ferris in the state senate. It was generally conceded that it would take a man of more than ordinary ability to fill the important place made vacant by the death of Senator Ferris. After some thought the conclusion arrived at was that there would be no man in the district better fitted to take up the work so well commenced by Senator Ferris than Mr. Frater and when the news was sent out that the republican party had chosen him as its standard bearer there was much rejoicing.

Senator Clapp stated that in discussing the issues of the campaign he would speak of democratic leadership generally and not individually.

"From one end of this great land to the other the condition is one of peace and prosperity. Coupled with this there is a deep seated conviction that, so far as political conditions are concerned, there will be no change this year. Before discussing national issues I am going to talk upon local conditions.

"It is generally conceded that Minnesota will give a majority of from 75,000 to 100,000 for Roosevelt and I do not believe that these figures are overestimated. Strange as it may appear, in the face of these almost overwhelming figures, the democratic party seems to see a ray of hope in what they seem to consider is dissension within the party regarding the governorship.

"It has always been a theory of mine that a United States senator or congressman would do well if they attended faithfully to the duties of their own office and let the people in the state attend to their own affairs, but this year there was an additional reason why it was necessary that some man that was impartial should try to bring peace to the factions that had sprung up as a result of the contest for the governorship. I was absolutely impartial and had no interest in the nomination of either man, but was only actuated by a desire to bring about harmony in a fight that threatened to disrupt our party in this state.

CLAPP'S TRIBUTE TO DUNN.

"Twenty-five years ago Robert C. Dunn entered the quiet village of Princeton. He was alone and on his young shoulders devolved the work of fighting single handed the battle of life that all must undertake. He started a newspaper. SENATOR CLAPP'S ELOQUENT ADDRESS

Largest Audience of the Campaign Attended the Meeting Last Night

A TRIBUTE TO HON. R. C. DUNN

United States Senator Moses E. Clapp addressed an audience of nearly 1000 people last night at the Brainerd opera house and it is generally conceded by democrats as well as republicans that it was the most enthusiastic political gathering that has been held in Brainerd during this campaign.

Time and time again the speaker was interrupted in his speech by his enthusiastic hearers in their applause, and there was not a dull moment during the entire two hours Mr. Clapp spoke.

The senator waxed warm with eloquence as he eulogized Robert C. Dunn, candidate for governor and the thought expressed that in voting for Mr. Dunn and the other members of the republican state ticket the state of Minnesota would hold up the arm of Theodore Roosevelt and his policy was well put and the impression made was far reaching and surely bringing many men who were just tottering a bit to their senses. The was a large number of prominent republicans on the stage and Mayor A. J. Halsted was the chairman who introduced the speakers.

WORD FROM HON. JOHN T. FRATER.

Mayor Halsted introduced as the first speaker Hon. J. T. Frater and he was received with rounds of applause. Mr. Frater spoke briefly and in part said:

He said that the death of Senator Ferris created a vacancy in the office of state senator and it left a wide gap. At the time none could imagine that the life of man in his prime would be cut off so soon. It was after the death of Mr. Ferris that Mr. Frater decided to become a candidate for the senate and it was at the earnest solicitation of his many friends.

Mr. Frater stated that his experience in the office of county treasurer could not but help prove valuable to him, and one of the first things that he would be in favor of and work for, if elected, would be a graduated penalty for the nonpayment of taxes. Instead of adding the entire penalty on the first of June, add one per cent then, two per cent the first of July and so on. This would make it an object for all to pay as early as possible.

Another question touched upon was the drainage of swamp lands. He would work for this law and under no circumstances would he vote to repeal the same.

The bridging of streams in this district is another important matter which he pledged himself to lend his hearty support. The large number of streams in the district makes it important that as much work be done in this line and Mr. Frater state he would be in favor of getting as much money as possible for this purpose out of the state improvement fund.

Upon party measures Mr. Frater expressed himself very candidly and forcibly. He stated that he had always been a consistent republican and he never tried to conceal his politics, but has always tried to be open and fair with everyone, and while doing so has treated the opposition with the utmost courtesy, appreciating the fact that every man is entitled to his own opinion. If elected Mr. Frater promised that he would represent all the people and not a part of them.

PAID TRIBUTE TO MR. FRATER.

In his opening remarks Senator Clapp paid Hon. John T. Frater a very flattering compliment. He said that he was in Brainerd about a year ago but on a mission that was not altogether a pleasant one; he had come to pay homage to the memory of one of Brainerd's most prominent fellow citizens, the late Hon. A. F. Ferris.

Mr. Ferris, he said, had won a place in the hearts of the people of the city and his attainments along lines of legislative affairs in the state had made for him a name among men and he was considered one of the leading members of the legislative body. Naturally men of affairs commenced to cast about to determine who might be the successor to

Mr. Ferris in the state senate. It was generally conceded that it would take a man of more than ordinary ability to fill the important place made vacant by the death of Senator Ferris. After some thought the conclusion arrived at was that there would be no man in the district better fitted to take up the work so well commenced by Senator Ferris than Mr. Frater and when the news was sent out that the republican party had chosen him as its standard bearer there was much rejoicing.

Senator Clapp stated that in discussing the issues of the campaign he would speak of democratic leadership generally and not individually.

"From one end of this great land to the other the condition is one of peace and prosperity. Coupled with this there is a deep seated conviction that, so far as political conditions are concerned, there will be no change this year. Before discussing national issues I am going to talk upon local conditions.

"It is generally conceded that Minnesota will give a majority of from 75,000 to 100,000 for Roosevelt and I do not believe that these figures are overestimated. Strange as it may appear, in the face of these almost overwhelming figures, the democratic party seems to see a ray of hope in what they seem to consider is dissension within the party regarding the governorship.

"It has always been a theory of mine that a United States senator or congressman would do well if they attended faithfully to the duties of their own office and let the people in the state attend to their own affairs, but this year there was an additional reason why it was necessary that some man that was impartial should try to bring peace to the factions that had sprung up as a result of the contest for the governorship. I was absolutely impartial and had no interest in the nomination of either man, but was only actuated by a desire to bring about harmony in a fight that threatened to disrupt our party in this state.

CLAPP'S TRIBUTE TO DUNN.

"Twenty-five years ago Robert C. Dunn entered the quiet village of Princeton. He was alone and on his young shoulders devolved the work of fighting single handed the battle of life that all must undertake. He started a newspaper. Finally it occurred to the people of that district that it would be a good idea to send that man who had worked so valiantly in his humble interests to the state legislature. In this way 'Bob' Dunn took what may be considered his first step in political life.

"One of the first things Mr. Dunn did when in the legislature was to frame and father a law that would insure a fair disposition of the school funds. He saw the grave injustice that was being done to certain sections by the system of apportionment then in existence, and determined at any cost to remedy it. This work he accomplished so well that the people next elected him state auditor. While in that office Mr. Dunn discovered the use to which a great portion of our school funds were adapted and determined that improvement could be made here also. At that time the school funds of Minnesota were being diverted to a great extent, to purchase bonds of other states and Mr. Dunn decided that, instead of taking chances with the money, by tying it up in bonds of other states that were liable to repudiate, he could serve the people better by loaning it out to districts within Minnesota, thereby securing absolute security. The effect of this action has met with the approval of all.

"But the work of supreme importance that 'Bob' Dunn has accomplished is his efforts as state auditor in behalf of the drainage and reclamation of state lands. He saw the good that could be done for the state by improving its waste territory and became and has always continued, one of the most able exponents of an adequate system of drainage in this state.

"Another act of paramount importance that Mr. Dunn has added in accomplishing is the placing of the charitable and penal institutions of the state under one board, thereby reducing the expense and by centralizing the government make it much more effective.

"His disposition of the problem of land grants is also remembered with approval by every citizen who has the state's interest at heart.

"While in the auditor's office Mr. Dunn studied the needs of the state and worked faithfully and well to care for and promote its interest. So well did he succeed that time and again his administration of the office has been regarded with pride and pointed out as an example why the republican party should be continued in control of state affairs.

"Time wore on and Dunn sought the nomination as state executive and was successful. Strange as it may seem no sooner had he gained that honor than a large number of people, who had formerly been loudest in his praise as auditor, began to wage a most bitter and relentless warfare against him. Most of their complaint is based on the erroneous idea that he did not have the majority in the state convention but only succeeded in securing the nomination by unseating a delegation that was unfavorable to him and placing his own representatives in instead. To those who are acquainted with the true state of affairs in that convention no more unjust or more dishonest charge has ever been brought against any man. I know and men who attended that convention know that Dunn's right to the nomination is held by the act of absolute majority, without stain and without question.

DUNN'S HONESTY LAUDED.

"The best evidence of the honest purposes and intentions of 'Bob' Dunn is found in his administration of the auditor's office.

"Another thing that his enemies are maliciously circulating against him are references to his character. We all know that 'Bob' Dunn is no orator or no Chesterfield but he is a man. There is nothing in his past of which he need be ashamed. Do you believe it possible for a man to live twenty-five years in a small town without his neighbors knowing something of his character? If you want to know how those who know him best regard him go to the little town of Princeton and there you will find that all unite in declaring 'Bob' Dunn an honest upright citizen. There must be something to the man who wins such approbation.

IS PARTY OF PROGRESS.

"The republican party has been one of achievement and progress. If you take the platform recently adopted at Chicago you will find written therein the record of fifty years of advancement. Then take the democratic platform and you cannot find in it one recital of a great policy that has been woven into the life of the party. The reason for this is because that party has not one issue that the American people have accepted.

"The trouble with the democratic party and its leadership is that never since the war have they been able to grasp the grand conception of growth and development. At every step in progress made by the republican party the democrats raise the cry of unconstitutionality.

"To demonstrate the utter inefficiency of the democratic party, take the case of the Panama canal. For fifty years the American people have looked forward to the completion of this great waterway that means so much to our prosperity and development, yet when the question was presented at the last session of congress the democrats promptly entered objections. The democratic leader threw himself in front of the canal bill and was promptly run over. A similar policy was followed when the naval bill was up for consideration and again the democrats were defeated.

TOUCHES ON TRUSTS.

"The democratic party claims that we are not doing anything with the trust problem, which offers such a grave menace to the future of this country, but when they were in power what did they accomplish? In the closing days of Cleveland's administration a committee was appointed to investigate the trust question and reported that they could not solve the problem or offer any suggestion as to its future guidance.

"The Harrison administration came but the American people were too busy seeking legislation that would help revive our languishing industries to worry about the trusts but when the time was ripe, under a republican executive, three bills were prepared and passed, aimed to effectively deal with and curb the trust evil. These acts, in effect, allow the government power to investigate, expedite trial of trust cases and provide equality in transportation of rates. If the rate law had been passed forty years ago there would not have been a Standard Oil trust.

"All through the Bryan campaigns Parker remained silent. In the last great fight of the democratic party, when the free silver plank was first placed, the split regarding the gold standard plank occurred and Bryan single handedly went out against the great hosts of democracy.

"Parker remained silent, but when news of his nomination came he flashed a telegram declaring for the gold standard. I prophesied, the morning that his action was announced, that that message would mean Parker's political death. Free silver is dead but there are more dead things piled up in the democratic back yard than anywhere else on earth.

"As we stand today, facing the unknown problems of tomorrow, what shall be said of the democratic party with such a record of failure and misgovernment? Shall we accept it with its weakness, failure and misgovernment or shall we turn to the republican party, with whom the issues of tomorrow are the living vital questions?

PAYS TRIBUTE TO ROOSEVELT.

"Do you want a man who will send a telegram 'the day after' or do you want one who grapples with the problem at hand, the incarnation of the purposes and ideals of a sturdy American citizen, the matchless Theodore Roosevelt?"

BANK CASHIER SLAIN

SHOT DEAD WHILE TRYING TO
FRUSTRATE BANK ROBBERS
AT CODY, WYO.

OUTLAWS ESCAPE UNINJURED

ONE POSSE BATTLES WITH THE
BANDITS BUT FAILS TO WOUND THEM.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 2.—A special to the Times from Cody, Wyo., says: Four heavily armed outlaws from the Hole-in-the-Wall country Tuesday held up and robbed the First National bank of this place and after shooting and killing Cashier Frank Middaugh and two of his Sioux Indian scouts. He has telegraphed orders for horses to meet his party at the station. He will take the trail in person immediately upon his arrival.

Just before the close of the bank a party of four roughly dressed men rode up to the First National bank in the heart of the city and immediately across the street from the Irma, Buffalo Bill's hotel. Three men dismounted and entered the building, the fourth stayed out and guarded the horses.

Cashier Made a Game Fight.

As soon as the outlaws entered the bank, one of them covered Cashier Middaugh, who was the only occupant of the room, and demanded the cash from the vault. Instead of complying Middaugh grabbed a revolver and made a game fight for life and money, firing several shots, even before the outlaw leader fired at the banker, but Middaugh was excited and his bullets went wide, while the single shot sent from the outlaw's gun plowed through the banker's brain, and he died instantly.

It is said the government had several hundred thousand dollars on deposit in that bank, and it was a narrow escape for the funds. The government is putting in a $5,000,000 irrigation system in the Big Horn, and had that cash there with which to pay off the workmen. The outlaws evidently knew this and were after that government money.

One of the posses, led by Sheriff Jeff Champion, overtook the outlaws at dusk twenty miles southwest of Cody, and a battle ensued in which Champion had a horse shot under him but was uninjured. The bandits obtained fresh horses at a ranch near by and escaped.

Large rewards have been offered for the bandits, dead or alive. The posses will try to kill all the bandits.

SECOND SUCCESSFUL FLIGHT.

Baldwin's Airship Makes Another Ascent at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Nov. 2.—The second successful flight of the Baldwin airship was made at the world's fair grounds Tuesday under the guidance of A. R. Knabenshue of Toledo, O., who maneuvered the California Arrow at will high above the western portion of the exposition grounds and descended in the stadium, adjoining the aerial concourse amid the cheering thousands, after a flight of thirty-six minutes. Monday Knabenshue took the airship up to an altitude of 2,000 feet and, circling around, descended in the aerial concourse within 1,200 feet of his starting point. Tuesday he went up to an altitude of about 1,600 feet and after directing the course of his aerial vessel at will, descended on the exact spot on which he had decided to land.

Satisfied with the demonstrations of the airship over short courses during these two trials, inventor Baldwin announced at the conclusion of the flight that Knabenshue will Wednesday undertake a fifteen-mile flight over a designated course, the choice of the course to be left to newspaper men, and the flight to be made regardless of the wind conditions.

PREVALENCE OF PROSPERITY.

Senator Fairbanks Says It Is Dependent Upon Republican Success.

La Porte, Ind., Nov. 2.—Nearly twenty speeches were made Tuesday by Senator Charles W. Fairbanks, the Republican candidate for vice president. With one exception, that of Sturgis, Mich., the senator's addresses were made to the citizens of his own state. At all points he was enthusiastically welcomed and his speeches were repeatedly punctuated with applause.

During the day he dwelt mainly upon the prevalence of prosperity throughout the country, claiming that this was due to Republican administration of the government and its continuance was dependent upon Republican success in November. At several points he referred to portions of Judge Parker's speech in New York Monday night with especial reference to the opening of foreign markets to American manufactured products.

HOT CAMPAIGN IN ITALY.

Several Persons Badly Injured in Election Riots.

Rome, Nov. 2.—The electoral campaign is at fever heat. There was a severe fight in a public hall in Palermo where Pallazzo, the Mafia leader and former deputy, attempted to speak at a meeting of his opponents. He was greeted with cries of "down with the traitor," and in the riot that followed several persons were badly injured.

At Corato, near Bari, a procession of 10,000 people escorting a candidate through the streets was fired upon by the supporters of the opposition candidate and several were wounded. The police restored order.

CONE FALLS INTO THE CRATER.

Several Loud Explosions Occur on Mount Vesuvius.

Naples, Nov. 2.—The cone on the crater of Mount Vesuvius, which formed during the late eruption, fell into the crater Tuesday with a tremendous roar. There immediately issued explosions that shook the whole mountain, followed by the emission of an immense black column, which gradually spread, falling in the form of ashes over the surrounding country within a radius of twenty-five miles. The disturbance lasted but a short time.

FATAL SHOOTING AT A DANCE.

Two Persons Dying and Two Others Badly Injured.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

"THE PRINCESS CHIC."

"The Princess Chic" company is making another transcontinental tour this season. This successful opera comique from the pen of Kirk La Shelle adds to its popularity as the seasons go by. The appearance of this company in most of the principal cities for five successive seasons attests the assertion that the public does not tire of the beautiful lyrics, fine music, gorgeous costumes and splendid scenery which go to make up this great attraction, and the fact that it has been booked for Brainerd on November 9 is a sufficient guarantee that our citizens will turn out en masse.

DON'T LEAVE THE CITY

Plenty of Proof Right Here in Brainerd.

Claim is one thing, proof another. Columbus claimed the world was round.

Did people believe it? Not until he proved it.

Unproven claims have made the people skeptics.

Every claim made for the "Little Conqueror" is proven.

Proven in Brainerd by local experience.

Here is one case from the many we have.

Mrs. J. H. Zellers, of 63 Main St., says: "I believe that after what Doan's Kidney Pills did for me they will help anyone similarly troubled. Before using them I suffered for six months from my kidneys. There was a miserable feeling of pressure over those organs and the secretions were scanty. Besides this there was a heavy pain across the small of my back. A box of Doan's Kidney Pills were gotten at the nearest drug store as I was glad to try anything to obtain relief. I took the pills and really they acted like a charm. I can truthfully say that I have not a symptom since. In my old condition I could not do a half day's work without my back giving me no end of trouble."

Sold for 50 cents a box by H. P. Dunn & Co. and all druggists. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

To the Voters of Brainerd:

At the solicitation of numerous business men and tax-payers, I have become a candidate for the office of mayor.

It seems proper for me to say: That I have been a resident and tax payer in this city more than twenty-one (21) years; that all my interests, socially and business-wise, are here; that my interests here are permanent and important, as indicated by my payment of $1200 per year in taxes, and that I have the welfare of the city at heart.

If elected, I can promise a fair and square business administration.

On these grounds, I respectfully solicit your favors at the coming city election.

Let us be practical!

Faithfully yours,

BANK CASHIER SLAIN

SHOT DEAD WHILE TRYING TO
FRUSTRATE BANK ROBBERS
AT CODY, WYO.

OUTLAWS ESCAPE UNINJURED

ONE POSSE BATTLES WITH THE
BANDITS BUT FAILS TO WOUND THEM.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 2.—A special to the Times from Cody, Wyo., says: Four heavily armed outlaws from the Hole-in-the-Wall country Tuesday held up and robbed the First National bank of this place and after shooting and killing Cashier Frank Middaugh of the bank, had a running fight with cowboys and hunters and escaped into Rattlesnake mountains, where they are being pursued by half dozen different posses. A battle is imminent. The Hole-in-the-Wall gang are noted as the most desperate outlaws in the West and the Cody posses are determined to wipe the bandits out of existence. Buffalo Bill himself is en route from Omaha in a special car having with him a party of ranchmen and two of his Sioux Indian scouts. He has telegraphed orders for horses to meet his party at the station. He will take the trail in person immediately upon his arrival.

Just before the close of the bank a party of four roughly dressed men rode up to the First National bank in the heart of the city and immediately across the street from the Irma, Buffalo Bill's hotel. Three men dismounted and entered the building, the fourth stayed out and guarded the horses.

Cashier Made a Game Fight.

As soon as the outlaws entered the bank, one of them covered Cashier Middaugh, who was the only occupant of the room, and demanded the cash from the vault. Instead of complying Middaugh grabbed a revolver and made a game fight for life and money, firing several shots, even before the outlaw leader fired at the banker, but Middaugh was excited and his bullets went wide, while the single shot sent from the outlaw's gun plowed through the banker's brain, and he died instantly.

It is said the government had several hundred thousand dollars on deposit in that bank, and it was a narrow escape for the funds. The government is putting in a $5,000,000 irrigation system in the Big Horn, and had that cash there with which to pay off the workmen. The outlaws evidently knew this and were after that government money.

One of the posses, led by Sheriff Jeff Champion, overtook the outlaws at dusk twenty miles southwest of Cody, and a battle ensued in which Champion had a horse shot under him but was uninjured. The bandits obtained fresh horses at a ranch near by and escaped.

Large rewards have been offered for the bandits, dead or alive. The posses will try to kill all the bandits.

ALCOHOL LAMP TIPS OVER.

Father and Daughter Badly Burned at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Nov. 2.—Miss Mabel Menard, daughter of Paul J. Menard, 1535 St. Anthony avenue, was seriously burned Tuesday night with alcohol. Her face, hands and body were scorched, and her condition is serious. Her father, who went to her assistance, was severely burned.

Miss Menard was handling an alcohol lamp and it was accidentally overturned. The contents were scattered on her dress and the fire spread rapidly. She was covered with flames before her father, who heard her cries, reached her.

EIGHT ARE WOUNDED.

One Fatality as Outcome of Halloween Lark Near Port Huron, Mich.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 2.—Roy Lindsay, aged twenty-seven years, is dying and seven other young men are nursing shot wounds which they received during a Halloween lark at Smiths creek, near this city.

The young men, accompanied by several others who were not wounded, had gone to the farm of Joseph Lambert, who, it is claimed, threatened previous to Halloween that any pranks attempted at his expense would be severely punished. The young men had just stepped through his gate, it is alleged, when Lambert and his three hired men fired on them with shotguns from behind a strawstack. Lindsay fell fatally wounded and the other seven dropped to the ground with shot wounds in various parts of their bodies.

SECOND SUCCESSFUL FLIGHT.

Baldwin's Airship Makes Another Ascent at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Nov. 2.—The second successful flight of the Baldwin airship was made at the world's fair grounds Tuesday under the guidance of A. R. Knabenshue of Toledo, O., who maneuvered the California Arrow at will high above the western portion of the exposition grounds and descended in the stadium, adjoining the aerial concourse amid the cheering thousands, after a flight of thirty-six minutes. Monday Knabenshue took the airship up to an altitude of 2,000 feet and, circling around, descended in the aerial concourse within 1,200 feet of his starting point. Tuesday he went up to an altitude of about 1,600 feet and after directing the course of his aerial vessel at will, descended on the exact spot on which he had decided to land.

Satisfied with the demonstrations of the airship over short courses during these two trials, Inventor Baldwin announced at the conclusion of the flight that Knabenshue will Wednesday undertake a fifteen-mile flight over a designated course, the choice of the course to be left to newspaper men, and the flight to be made regardless of the wind conditions.

DON'T LEAVE THE CITY

Plenty of Proof Right Here in Brainerd.

Claim is one thing, proof another. Columbus claimed the world was round.

Did people believe it? Not until he proved it.

Unproven claims have made the people skeptics.

Every claim made for the "Little Conqueror" is proven.

Proven in Brainerd by local experience.

Here is one case from the many we have.

Mrs. J. H. Zellers, of 63 Main St., says: "I believe that after what Doan's Kidney Pills did for me they will help anyone similarly troubled. Before using them I suffered for six months from my kidneys. There was a miserable feeling of pressure over those organs and the secretions were scanty. Besides this there was a heavy pain across the small of my back. A box of Doan's Kidney Pills were gotten at the nearest drug store as I was glad to try anything to obtain relief. I took the pills and really they acted like a charm. I can truthfully say that I have not a symptom since. In my old condition I could not do a half day's work without my back giving me no end of trouble."

Sold for 50 cents a box by H. P. Dunn & Co., and all druggists. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

For Mayor.

To the Voters of Brainerd:

At the solicitation of numerous business men and tax-payers, I have become a candidate for the office of mayor.

It seems proper for me to say: That I have been a resident and tax payer in this city more than twenty-one (21) years; that all my interests, socially and business-wise, are here; that my interests here are permanent and important, as indicated by my payment of $1200 per year in taxes, and that I have the welfare of the city at heart.

If elected, I can promise a fair and square business administration.

On these grounds, I respectfully solicit your favors at the coming city election.

Let us be practical!

Faithfully yours,

CON. O'BRIEN.
